THE MASTERS SCHOOL

DOBBS FERRY-ON-HUDSON

NEW YORK

Dear Class of 1960:

It is hard to realize, as I sit looking out at a late February snowfall, that when you read this, your last year at Dobbs and my first will be almost over. I don't suppose any new school head, encountering for the first time the many traditions and cherished customs of such a school as Dobbs, the many details of daily life, the many illogicalities and strange whimsies of the feminine mind individually and collectively, I don't suppose any such man could have been blessed with a finer or more helpful or more understanding Senior Class. Your warmth and friendliness, your patience, your innate good will and good sense when a problem was presented to you—all will remain a happy memory for Mrs. Mann and for me through the years. I wish we could have had longer together.

And so, you see, I know a bit of what you have given to Dobbs and, in a lesser sense, to me. I would like to try to put in a few words what I hope Dobbs has been able to give you. I hope first of all that it has given you a heightened sense of the worth and importance of your own integrity, both your intellectual integrity and your spiritual. I hope secondly that you have built up an image in your mind of what constitutes liberty, true freedom for the individual, have learned that it does not consist of being left alone to do as you please, but consists of aligning as perfectly as possible your interests, activiites and energies with all the other parts of the great structure of human life. As I said one day in chapel, unless we use what freedom we have in the work we do with others, we have none. Thus I hope that Dobbs has given you an abiding realization of the joy and freedom that comes from working with others for a common cause. Thirdly, I hope you have gotten a deep sense of your own worth and importance as an individual; that you have learned that difference does not equal inferiority and that you have something unique and of worth to contribute. Lastly, I hope that Dobbs has given you a glimpse of the excitement that ideas and good intellectual work can bring, the fun and satisfaction that comes from really coming to grips with the great minds and creative spirits down the ages.

It is a large order—integrity, a knowledge of what constitutes real freedom, a sense of your own worth, a glimpse of intellectual possibilities—but Dobbs will never be satisfied with striving for less, nor, I hope and believe, will you. God bless you and keep you always.

Sincerely,

P. Cameron Mann

Headmaster.

Dear Chip—
Having mixed emotions at this time, I find it rather difficult to put into words what I feel. Like many seniors, I think I'm ready to leave Dobbs and go on to college, but I know I'm going to miss everyone so much. We've had loads of fun these 4 years and I don't suppose either of us will ever forget those hysterical Latin Soph. year! Best of luck to you — I'm so happy about Wells. I know you'll add much to that college just as you have added to Dobbs!
Much love,
Nannie

Chip darling,
This is impossible — articulation of the most common sort is difficult enough — to say what I'd like to you is impossible. I suppose I could reiterate all the fun we've had — the White Plains incident — the weeping Beech party — but you know as well as I that — as fun as all that was — the more quiet, more personal times are really — to me at any rate — the ones that matter most. This is getting a bit sticky — I know that you'll understand however … to any one else, it is … not — such perhaps is the essence of personal relationship — solely between those involved — totally incomprehensible to outsiders — even a bit baffling to those involved. I for one could never hope to analyze the quality, depth etc. of our friendship — but I do feel, sense — that it is of a rare nature — something beautiful & fine — I daresay I love you as much as is possible for a girl to love another girl — I can't bear the thought that after this year we probably will never have the chance to be as close as here — I doubt we'll forget each other — but I fear that we will inevitably lose contact except perhaps the cursory type letter — I hope most sorry. But not the least few — I only wish I had some handsome, eligible brother for you to marry. — This is sticky — I'm sorry — no I'm not — even in this cold, self-contained, but poised & polished world of ours, there is no reason why I shouldn't be totally candid at least once — All my love Chip dear — Val

Dear Chip,
This play is going to be gruesome, but walking across at class day is going to be worse. If you make me walk all the way to the other side I will never forgive you. Don't forget you smile for the home movies, and when you come to Chicago, you can see them. Have a good summer, and maybe I'll make it to Memphis. Have a good year at Wells, and you write me. Don't forget bumm, and freshman year.
Love,

AS usual the Croton Local was crowded; even after our 10 year vacation we remembered we had to crush out that last cigarette on the threshold of the iron horse. Some have not returned, Denny Vogeli having moved to Never-Never Land to complete her third volume of dialectic nonsense; Margo Barrett now decorating her castle in the air, and Sharon Queeney devoting herself to her Iowa farmer.

I moved down the car with Susan Shelden, who told me of her fortune recently made in an ingenious sunglasses design. Nostalgia overcame me as I saw the faces of Betsy Whitesides, élite manicurist, who lives next door to Jensie Warner, capable Mrs. America. The voice of Bird Durrance, speaking of "back home," filtered through the din of Marilyn Rooney demonstrating her singing commercials, and Ginny Arthur and Vicki Clark telling Rosie Rogan, leader of a boys' choir, of the merits of suburbia.

Alice Allen, back from an archeological expedition with M. E. Clark, a zoologist, told of political figures Sebern Ferry, a D. A. R. demagogue, and Val Pierpont, now in the diplomatic service. In the entertainment world, Anita Peabody is the sultry star; Barbara Moore's singing voice is dubbed on the sound track, and Janie Spence is co-star. Cynthia Matthews, in Passionella, has won an Oscar over Janie VanderPoel in her ingénue rôles. On tour Sally Jones' figure 8's captivated Russia while Barbara Bachini and Missy Marks, in their double bubble dance, thrilled New York. Meanwhile I heard that Mia Roosen is the current Chiquita Banana, and Anne Bloch is a wild apache dancer to Pam Spear's accompanying guitar at the "Purple Onion." Lin Dalglish is starving on an actress' pay, but Carol Downey and Mi Rowley like to eat regularly—they are now successful morticians.

In the commercial world Susie Mitchell, Barb Hogan, and Babs Brock have standing appointments at Elizabeth Arden, while Ann Haines' husband manufactures pastel shoes and Ellen Mahoney poses for Breck adds. Vitally important to industry is Susie Smith's job of threading the angora in a beer-mug sock factory, and Peggy Fisher's knitting cabled warm-up suits for such athletes as San Eddy and Phil Ledard of the Kansas Athletics, Polly King and Toto Cromelin, Olympic Kite Flyers, and 3 instructors of Vic Tanney's, Anne Bronson, Susan Halleran and Nancy Hamill. Also, Carolee Davis is Hackley's new gym teacher.

Next, I came upon a stream of domesticity. Tris Richards, having made the final payment on her refrigerator, sat with Bicki McCallum, Brownie leader, and Joan Fry, Den mother. The Lipson twins, now Mrs. Barnum and Mrs. Bailey, sought advice from Lee McClelland, the author of the latest reference for perturbed parents, and Janie Schlesinger, president of the Planned Parenthood.

Culture has crept into our class: Bobbie Schoetz has toured, giving talks on gesture with Kiki Michalos as her prime exhibit. Chip Fisher has brought the opera to Memphis, with Pam Whinston who finally made it: she's the charwoman. Laurie Platt and Molly McWilliams have discovered new properties to tri-linear figures; Keats Runyon published the Social Register with unsurpassed creativity, while Bibby writes profound procrastination. Success has come to tree surgeon, Mimi Winter, and Mary Ann McAfee, phonetics professor at Cambridge. Sundry gossip items were droped during the ride: J. J. Derry now owns 7½ pairs of contact lenses; Sallie Bell has been around the world six times; Dorrie Thompson is misplaced on some desert with her sheik, and Martha Wendt is head counselor in Camp Wyanesocki. The ultimate in travel was achieved by Alison Gordon by Triton to the moon.

Frank drove the cab up the hill, and while Essie Magee, employed by Lanz, Connie Griffin, leading the second prohibition, and Frannie Bonbright, ball girl at Davis Cup Matches, fished for their 35 cents, we learned of Lynn Warner and Allaire Milholland's wedded bliss, Susan Leslie's home for old sailors, and Sally Bonney's fortune in Revlon financed fingernails.

However, life does have it sordid side—confidential reporter, Sally Andrews, uncovered Sara Huntington's past of selling kisses for W. U. S., while Nannie Cochran had to use her influence to get Frannie Prosser out of Siberia. The beautiful security of Sue Stock, chief cook at Maxim's, of Taylor and Tobin running a ski lodge with Nonnie Bruenn, past ski instructor in the French army, of Jo Poletti, running Poletti's Pizza Pie Place, and of Enright, droodle analizer, is marred by such facts as Jo Costikyan's unfulfilled search for the one for whom she's been suffering, and Perry Colemore's imprisonment for stowing away on a slow boat to China.

By 10:30, the fates of the remaining members of the class were disclosed: Beebe was in the pessimistic branch at Delphi, run by Heidi Fry. Anne Watson, intently watching the skies, discovered a new planet, while Gail Shute runs IBM machines with extraordinary deftness. Julie Mecherle, being the sweetheart of Fort Lauderdale, was matched by Nancy Blair becoming a shipboard badminton instructor, and Linda Sargent's playing the organ at Madison Square Garden. Sandy Borelli and Pam Carson, cohostesses at Schraft's, occasionally see Dindy Schaffhausen, president of the e. e. cummings' fan club, Heather Maycock, barber union leader, and Cissy McDonald, that "gal on the river."

So, though the vacation seemed to pass rapidly, we returned to work. Incidentally, Barbara Dunlap, still trying to graduate, never had left Dobbs. And the level of my journalistic talents merely proves that education, my friends, is a life-long struggle.

Dear Chip of Princeton buddy boo
Ah yes those WERE the good old days. It's enough to bring tears to your eyes. As a matter of fact I cry every time I think about it.
Maybe I'll see you again down there. There's nothing like old Nassau for atmosphere, eh?
However I hope by then I'll be dating someone, ANY one with a little more umph than handsome dashing Bob Jones (the mistake)

My subtle humor about the races was I guess too subtle I bet the only person who got my feeble attempt was Taffy.

The History of Art Room of the library will seem so empty without you. Maybe now I'll get my work done rather than spending all my time laughing with (maybe at) you.

I don't know why I wrote on the glee page except the Phoenix people are so cheap and I wouldn't have enough space.

If by some mishap you do

In promulgating esoteric cogitations or articulating superficial sentimentalities and philosophical or psychological observations, beware of platitudinous ponderosity. Let your statements possess a clarified conciseness, compact comprehensibleness, coalescent consistency and a concentrated cogency. Eschew all conglomerations of flatulent garrulity, jejune babblement and asinine affections. Let your extemporaneous descantings and unpremeditated expatiations have intelligibility and veracious vivacity, without rhodomontade or thrasonical bombast. Sedulously avoid all polysyllabic profundity, psittaceous vacuity, ventriloquial verbosity and grandiloquent vapidity, shun double entendres, prurient jocosity and pestiferous profanity (obscurent or apparent).

Dear Mary Ann-
God, I don't know what the hell I would have done without you this year; you've been such a sweetie to me. Between Charlie, Artie, and my (rather Alice's) Bill, I'm surprised I'm still alive. Seriously though your friendship has meant more to me than anything else in the world. It's gonna be pure hell next year without you here to urge me on and keep me alive during all those depressing months. I'll kill you if you don't come back and visit. If I don't cry at graduation you'll be assured that I will bawl all the way home on the train and possibly all nite too while you're out with Tyler. Have a straight shot of bourbon for me and drink it slow so it stings— and you'll know what I feel like. I'd better stop before I get too sentimental- Good bye and God bless you hon—all my love goes with you—Helen
